Details of Facilities are in Annexure 1

Detailed Rationale

The rating re-affirmed to the bank facilities of Sara Textiles Limited derives comfort from experienced promoters, diversified customer base, established client relationship and above average financial risk profile. However, these strengths are partially offset by susceptibility to volatility in raw material prices, foreign exchange fluctuation risks, Project implementation risk, intense competition in the operating segment and working capital intensive nature of operations.

Key Rating Sensitivities:

Upward Factors

• Sustained and significant improvement in scale of operations by diversifying the geographical, customer and product profile, while sustaining its profitability.

Downward Factors

• Decline in total operating income/ profitability on a sustained basis, or any major debt-funded capex or inorganic expansion weakens the liquidity profile or debt protection metrics.

He holds a post graduate degree in Economics from Punjab University along with a Diploma from the Indian Institute of Foreign Trade, New Delhi. He is assisted by a team of well qualified and experienced professionals in handling the day to -day operations of the business.

The promoters have experience of more than three decades in the home furnishings segment and have developed capability in the manufacturing of terry towels and also trades in bath mats, bed sheets and other related products. The company has an established customer base both in India and abroad. It has 12 major customers in the overseas market, mainly in the US and Europe. The international customer base has been expanding with the company targeting other markets such as the Middle East, Australia and Asia. Press Release debt protection metrics remained comfortable as marked by ISCR of 4.78x times in FY2023 and DSCR at 1.78 times as on March 31, 2023.

Key Rating Weaknesses

Susceptible to volatility in raw material prices and foreign exchange fluctuation risks:

The main raw material purchased by the company is cotton and polyester yarn, making it susceptible to changes in its prices. The exports of STL constituted around 70% of the total sales. As a result, STL's business is also exposed to fluctuations in foreign exchange rates. However, the same is partly offset by the hedging of export receivables undertaken by the company. IVR believes that STL should be able to improve its operating margins in the medium term, notwithstanding the volatility in the prices of its key inputs, on the back of its established position in the domestic and overseas markets.

Project Implementation risk

To cater the demand and need of their customer, Company proposes to addition of 2,700 MT/Year in its capacity at their existing unit - Village Bhatian, Pargana Plassi, Tehsil Nalagarh, District Solan, Himachal Pradesh – 174101. The estimated total project cost Rs. 95.85 Crore, which will have funded through Rs. 28.85 Crore promoter contribution (Rs 16.35 Crore will be from Internal accruals and Rs 12.50 Crore will be from fresh infusion) and Rs. 67.00 Crore term loan from bank/FIs.

Profitability vulnerable to fluctuations in raw material prices, forex rates and regulatory policies:

STL's profitability (OPM and RoCE of 7.14% and 9.83% in FY2023) remain vulnerable to volatility in yarn prices as there is a lag between order booking and deliveries. Its profitability remains vulnerable to forex rates fluctuations as more than 70% of the net sales is derived from exports in FY2023(P). Nonetheless, the company's unhedged exposure remains relatively lower due to formal hedging policy. STL's profitability, like that of any other textile players are supported by export incentives, which have historically accounted as its operating profits.

Press Release

Thus, the company's profitability remains exposed to any adverse changes in the policies by the Government.

Working capital intensive nature of operations:

STL has an elongated working capital cycle of 125 days in FY2023 owing to high inventory holding days of 112 days and high receivable days of 50 days, making its operations working capital intensive. The company needs to initiate steps to reduce its working capital cycle to more acceptable levels. Though large, the working capital requirement is expected to be managed prudently through timely realisation of receivables and healthy accrual.
